

Unified Field Experience

Overview

Unified Field Experience offers life sciences field teams a next-generation mobile experience that integrates sales planning and execution, incentives, and omnichannel customer engagement. This iPad app provides reps with a comprehensive view of their business, empowering them to make informed decisions on the go and achieve superior sales outcomes.

Challenges of Disconnected Sales Processes

Multiple systems of record and intelligence can create confusion and inefficiencies for field sales teams by producing fragmented data and inconsistent information.

Complex network of disparate systems

Data Divergences

Poor Field Experience

Unified Insights to Optimize Field Performance

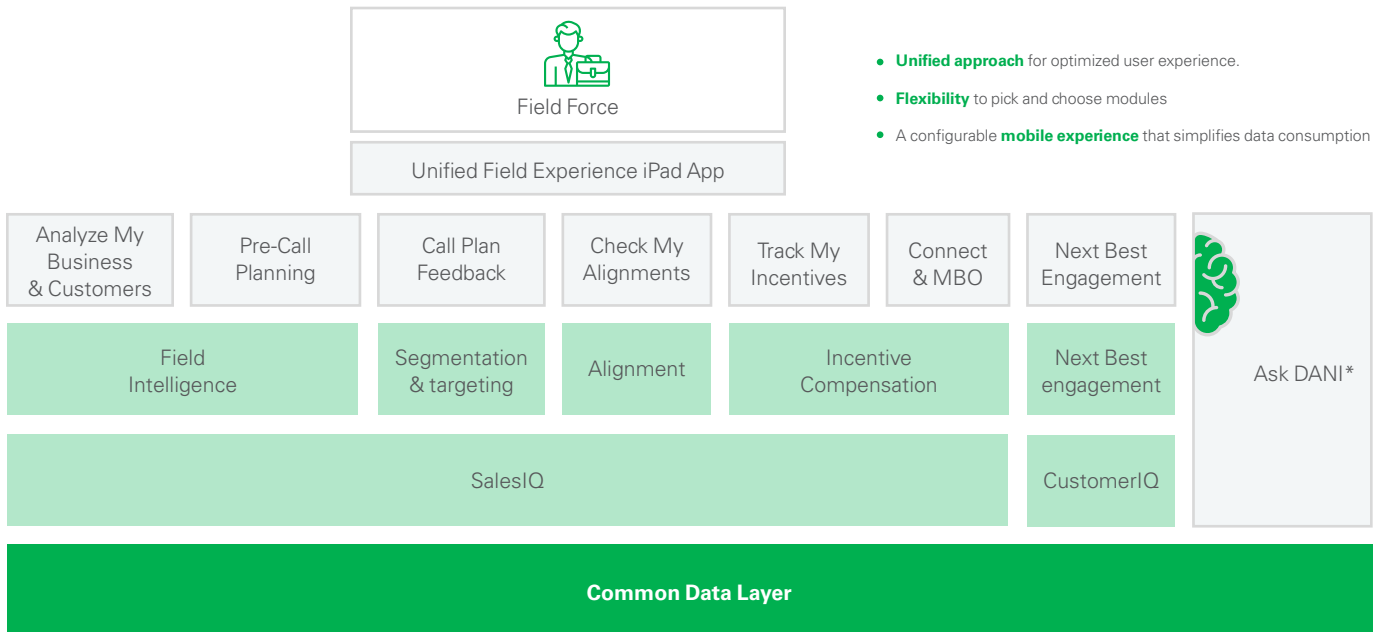

The Unified Field Experience app addresses this challenge by seamlessly connecting these systems, offering a unified view and ensuring reliable data integrity. This integration empowers field sales teams to make informed decisions based on a single version of the truth, enhancing productivity and sales effectiveness.

Unified Field Experience leverages GenAI-powered recommendations to help field teams prioritize sales activities, analyze customer interactions, and make informed decisions that maximize commercial impact.

Key Capabilities

Using DANI, Axtria's conversational chatbot, reps can quickly get the information they need by making natural language queries.
